In the runup to the city's first Green Fair on Saturday, several workshops are planned this week on topics ranging from composting to home energy conservation.

The fair, sponsored by the city and the Hoboken Green Team, is slated for 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, at Pier A Park along the Hoboken waterfront. It will feature music, organic food vendors, and information on how to become more environmentally conscious.

Here's a list of events taking place this week:

Today: Urban Agriculture and Composting workshop hosted by Sustainable Jersey City and Committee for a Green Hoboken at 6:30 p.m. at HOPES Center, 124 Grand St. The suggested donation is $10.

Tomorrow: Home Energy Conservation workshop hosted by Green Living Solutions at 6:30 p.m. at the Jubilee Center, 601 Jackson St. This workshop is free to attend.

Wednesday: Viewing of the movie "Earth Days" at 6:30 p.m. at Willie McBride's, 616 Grand St. The viewing is free to attend and will be hosted by the Hoboken Quality of Life Coalition.

Thursday: Recycling - Where, How and Why workshop at 6 p.m. at the Hoboken Public Library, 500 Park Ave. The recycling workshop is free to attend and is hosted by the library.
